

Important

No electronics of any kind (except a watch that only tells the time) within reach. Bags fully closed and as far away and flat to the ground as they can go, opening pointing away.

If I can't read your answers I am not going to give the benefit of the doubt and assume they are correct.

You must sign the honour pledge.

If there is a chance you might need a bathroom break, go now instead.

But

As this is 150 minutes long there is another option. You may receive the questions one (or more) at a time. If you leave the room at any time, you must bring those questions and answers back to me and you will not be allowed access to them again. Your name must be clearly written at the top of every page.

When finished, assemble your papers in order (exclude this page) First the front page with the boxes for scores, then question 1, then its answer, then question 2, then its answer and so on. Staple them together in the top left corner. You must sign the honour pledge.
